PREFACE

Herein is a documented report on the findings of a genealogical study of the family Barnes, and may you treasure it as a part of your great heritage as an American. These ancestors accomplished great things partly because they were men of ability. This, however, does not account for it all. They could stick to their task until it was completed. The poet Longfellow was right when he said, "The heights by great men reached and kept were not attained by sudden flight, but they, while their companions slept, were toiling upward in the night". Our Barnes line is descended from an English family, and marks its origin in this country as Colonists in 1656. In the struggle against the Mother Country, the American Revolution is one of the most important and inspiring events in the whole history of mankind. It gave us the right to govern ourselves! From the founding of the United States to our modern day, you will see where your ancestors pushed across the continent as courageous pioneers. I was sitting in a classroom of Am. history while attending my Junior year of high school, when the instructor called my name. "Miss Kirkpatrick" he said, "Of what ancestry are you?"

Rallying from my sleepy and indifferent attitude to the whole boring subject, I had to reply, "Well... Well... Well, Sir - I really don't know!"

"Don't know!!" he fairly shouted to the class. Walking over to stand in front of me on the end of the front row of seats, he said, "Miss Kirkpatrick, I would like to make a special assignment for you to find out your ancestry before this unit is completed.

That evening my grandmother told me as much as she knew and I copied down notes as she related facts. To my amazement the deeper I dug into the subject the greater became my interest. It was a great source of satisfaction to her in the last years of her life to know that someone of the younger generation was going to preserve the records! It has been a thrilling experience and perhaps this will inspire you to dig for ancestry as I have. Acknowledgement of thanks is extended to my husband, little son, parents, sisters and other relatives helping on this project, and to all answering inquiries for material for the booklet whose dedication is to LeVanchie Barnes Adams for her basic layout of the family tree. It is hoped that this work will do something toward creating an interest in Am. History and Am. Genealogy, and help our posterity answer the question "Of what ancestry are you?".

PART I
EARLY BARNES HISTORY

"The ship SPEEDWELL was a 60 ton pinnacle and started from Delfshaven to meet with the MAYFLOWER. At Southampton, England, the Speedwell joined the chartered Mayflower, a vessel of 180 tons burden. The Mayflower reached Southampton on 5 August; both vessels sailed westward 15 August, with 90 passengers on the Mayflower and 33 on the Speedwell. A leak in the Speedwell necessitated seeking shelter in Dartmouth for 8 or 10 days... When 300 miles of their journey from Land's End into the Atlantic Ocean, Cap't. Reynolds asserted the vessel unfit for the voyage and insisted on its return... The Mayflower landed some 102 Pilgrims at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in 1620, the original Pilgrim Colony."

THOMAS BARENCE¹ (1636-1679)... The Speedwell discharged passengers at the Massachusetts Bay Colony, Boston, in May, 1656... one Thos. Barence set foot in America. He was a young man of 20 years and came in company with Thos. Goodenow - later to become his father-in-law. Our ancestor Barnes m 2 July 1662, to Abigail Goodenow, b 11 March 1642, at Sudbury, the dau of Thos. and Jane Goodenow... The village of Sudbury, located on Sudbury River, 18 miles west of Boston, was founded in 1638 and had considerable importance in pre-Revolutionary Mass. Not far from the village of South Sudbury is "Wayside Inn" (known as Howe Tavern when first opened in 1686) which was the scene of Tales of a Wayside Inn (1863) stories in verse by Longfellow... We found recorded that Thos. Barnes was in Marlborough, Middlesex Co., Mass. early and bought land in 1663 and was then a resident of that place. He d 1679, and a will was probated in the same year... Marlboro - 25 miles west of Boston, was founded in 1656; the settlement was almost completely destroyed by the Indians during King Philip's War in 1676. Paul Revere died in Marlboro. The Boston Post Road, following the Colonial route from Boston to New York, known in times past as the the King's Highway and the Queen's Highway, runs through the city... The early history of Massachusetts is a subject of intense interest to its people, and to the many scattered throughout the U. S. who are of Massachusetts lineage... A search was made for a family Coat of Arms, but we were unable to find one for our Barnes family line. This, of course, does not mean there is not one if someone would like to examine records in England via the Soc. of Genealogists, London. The scope of this study has been to exhaust all available material in this country. The derivation of the surname is from the Old English and Norse word, bairn (a child); we find it compounded in such names as Fairbairn and Goodbairn. Barnes is found in the Domesday Book (1086) as Barne as it was formerly written, the plural form being rarely found until after the 13th Century. Of course, it took on many spellings - Barence, Baron, as the phonetics of that time. (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7)

CAPT. (and Deacon) DANIEL BARNES³ (1701-1775)...
m. 23 May 1723 to Zeruiah Eager, b 17 Sept 1705 at Marlborough, the dau of Abraham and Lidiah Eager of that village. He held His Majesty's commission as Captain, and was also a Deacon of the church.
Residing for a time in Shrewsbury, he returned to Marlborough in 1733. Capt. Barnes d 24 March 1775;
a will was probated in Middlesex Co. the same year.
His widow, Zeruiah, d 12 Sept 1781... The effort to name political, religious, and social status in the Society of the period was limited. Whigs and Tories were found in the ancestry. Strict Puritan influence was carried over as Mass. Congregationalism grew.
We are aware that they were neither poor nor rich but in the upper middle-class. Special pews seated the Deacons and their families at church services, and it is no conjecture to state the high degree of religious faith which governed their lives.

Deacon HORACE GREELEY BARNES, Esq.⁶ (1797-1878) ... m 1 Jan 1839, to Susan Lucretia Cone, b 20 Dec 1816, Litchfield Co., Conn., oldest child of Sullivan⁵ (Daniel⁴, Daniel³, Caleb², Daniel¹) - a long line of Cones dating back to 1662 - and Lucretia Philena Humphrey (David) of Winchester, Conn... Her grandfather, Daniel Hurlburt Cone, was Rev. War soldier in battles of Brandywine and Morristown and wintered at Valley Forge 1777-8, serving under Col. Meigs and Col. Bradley... No record could be found on when Horace Barnes left Warwick for Westfield, Chautauqua Co., New York; The Cone family moved there ca. 1833, where record found they were admitted church membership, First Presbyterian Church, Westfield... Under Record of Marriages - A. G. Moses married "Barnes" and "Miss Susan Cone"... There is evidence they had friends living at Bristol, Kendall County, Illinois; thus, they were easily lured to pioneer there also in December 1839. We find in a printed history of that country - "Horace Barnes, Owen Kennedy, Mr. Clapp, Thos. Penman (ancestor of Mrs. Ruth Ohse), Lyman Childs (ancestor of Harlan Wm. Grimwood), Robt. Hopkins and Thos. McMurtrie". They traveled by boat as well as overland to Chicago and on to Kendall Co., settled on a farm at Bristol Station, where they lived and died and raised their family... Only 7 years had passed since the end of Black Hawk War... On 14 Dec 1839, we find recorded Horace Barnes and wife, Susan L. Barnes, joined the Congregational Church, Yorkville, Illinois, by letter of transfer... They were devout Christians. The story has been told concerning the eldest son, Orton. He, together with several of his boy chums, was discovered playing cards in the hayloft of a neighbors barn! Definite disciplinary action was taken by Deacon Barnes when he invited and forced the boys to play cards night after night for many weeks!... Dea. Barnes was one of the builders of the Federated Church, Yorkville... After his death, 29 Feb 1878, a last will and testament left his entire estate in the hands of his widow; Susan d 29 May 1897, and was buried beside her husband... On 20 Feb 1956, the author visited with Harlan Wm. Grimwood, Plano, Kendall Co., Ill. whose grandfather, Wm. Grimwood, lived neighbor to Horace Barnes. He pointed out the site of the Barnes farm homestead. All that remained was a grove of trees where the house had burned, and a silo standing near the barn site... Harlan Grimwood d 10 Sept 1956.

Orton⁷, (Horace⁶) Barnes was b 16 October 1842, at the farm home of his parents near Bristol Station, Kendall County, Illinois, the oldest s of Dea. Horace and Susan (Cone)⁶ Barnes. (1, 2 and 6)

On 8 February 1868, he m Emily Sarah Pierce, b 17 May 1845, in Kingston, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, the dau of Charles and Catherine (Sine) Pierce, Paw Paw, Illinois. They were m at Paw Paw, Lee County, Illinois, by the Rev. Charles Breed. Marriage Records (5)

Orton enlisted as Pvt., Co. H, 89th Regiment, Illinois Inf., at Bristol, on 9 August 1862, 20 yrs. of age, 5 ft. 9 1/2 inches tall, hazel eyes and brown hair, Union Army of Civil War for 3 years, Capt. F. M. Hobbs in command. Wounded left leg below knee by musket Minie ball, Battle of Stone's River, Murphyboro's, Tennessee, on 31 Dec. 1862, New Year's Eve, Hospitalized at Nashville, Tenn. and Louisville, Kentucky for 5 months, then transferred to Veteran Reserve Corps; he received invalid pension 1870. Honorably discharged 7 July 1865, at Jackson, Michigan. Name is on bronze plaque list of soldiers hanging in Kendall County, Illinois, courthouse.

BATTLE: The opposing forces at Stone's River, Tennessee, the Union Army, the Army of the Cumberland (14th Army Corps), Maj.-Gen. Wm. S. Rosecrans in command; the Second division, Brig.-Gen. Richard

Johnson in command; the first (late sixth) Brigade (89th Ill.), Brig. -Gen. August Willich in command... Brigade loss: k 90; w 373; m 701 totaling 1164. "The Confederate movement began at daybreak... The first movement in their front was observed by the Union skirmish line, but that first movement was a rush as of a tornado. The skirmishers fell back steadily, fighting... Far to the right, the Confederate line came sweeping on like the resistless tide, driving artillerists from their guns and infantry from their encampments. Slowly the extreme right fell back (Union line - extreme right under Willich and Kirk), at first contesting every inch of ground. In Kirk's Brigade 500 men were killed, or wounded in a few minutes. Willich lost nearly as many. The battle raged, then the Confederates wavered and fell back, and the first day's fight was over. New Year's was a day of fair weather." (5, 8, 9 and 10)

Reared a farmer, he obtained educ Public Schools of Kendall Co., Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, Illinois. Teacher at Old Academy, Paw Paw, Illinois, 1867-72; family moved to Missouri, traveling via boat from Ill. to Farmington, Iowa, then by team and spring wagon to Scotland Co., Missouri, 1872. Miss Levanchie Barnes
Memphis, Missouri

My dear lady:

I received a paper, the Memphis Reveille, and learned of your mothers death. I write to say I sympathize with all of you children and my heart of sorrow is with you and pray that the God of Love may always be with you all. Death makes words of no avail and beggars all tributes of friendship. The loss of a loved one so sanctifies their virtues that silence sometimes seems the highest praise. The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away... in giving he made the world sweeter and in taking away he made Heaven richer.

Your father and I were like two brothers, and I thought of much of him as a brother. Our life was woven together in a great good Cause. Therefore, I hold the greatest respect for all of his family. It would be the greatest pleasure of my life if I could be of any assistance to his children. I know you feel lonely in sorrow, but God in his goodness will always be with you.

I should be pleased to hear from you. I often thought of the family and of coming over there. I shall write to Dr. Brown. I do not know if he is living. I have not heard from him for more than 7 years.

Most respectfully,
/s/ R. H. Baird

Harlan⁷ (Horace⁶) Barnes was b 4 December 1844, at the farm home of his parents near Bristol Station, Kendall County, Illinois, the second s of Dea. Horace and Susan (Cone)⁶ Barnes. (1, 2 and 7)

On 25 December 1873, he m Fannie C. Bradford, b 29 June 1850, in Worcester, Massachusetts, the

The first part of the paper describes the background and aims of the study. The second part describes the methods used, including the study design, participants, and data collection. The third part presents the results of the study, and the fourth part discusses the implications of the findings.

The study was conducted in a hospital setting and involved a sample of patients who were referred to the hospital for a specific condition. Data was collected through a series of interviews and questionnaires, and the results were analysed using statistical methods.

The findings of the study suggest that there is a significant association between the variables studied, and this has important implications for the management of the condition. Further research is needed to confirm these findings and to explore the underlying mechanisms.

Then coming West to relatives, she lived with her brother, Edwin Bradford at Macomb, Illinois, and with her sister, Ella Bradford (m Aaron M. Boomer, cousin of brother-in-law of Harlan) of near Yorkville, where they were m. (2, 3 and 7)

Harlan and Fannie loved children. She was known as "Aunt Fannie" to the youngsters in Yorkville. Having had four infants which d at birth, the fifth child, Guy H., lived to fourteen years of age when he d from a heart disease. In a letter from Harlan Grimwood, "Have always had a very warm feeling towards the Barnes family, as my father was such a close friend of Arthur H. and Harlan P., and also Harlan gave me the violin which Guy used and which was given to Guy by Wm. Willett. I was 12 at the time, and immediately started lessons from Gerald Godard (a cousin of Wm. Willett's wife, Ethel). About the best that it did for me was to enable me to appreciate the wealth of good music now available via records, radio and television". (5)

Reared a farmer, he obtained educ Public Schools of Kendall Co., and continued farming until 1869. Emp as Traveling Agent, American Bridge Co., Inc., Chicago, Illinois. Traveling for this firm until 1890, he visited most of the states and territories as well as the Canadian Northwest. In 1881, he settled permanently on the farm and original homestead of his father. Retiring in 1920, they moved to Yorkville, located on corner of King and Center streets.

Harlan served as Supervisor of Bristol township for 14 years; a mem of Board of Review of Kendall County; Pres of Kendall County Fair Assoc. for 10 years; affil with Modern Woodmen of American; mem Yorkville Federated Church. (2, 6 and 7)

"Aunt Fannie" d on 13 June 1929, and was buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Yorkville. Harlan P. continued on and had to have someone care for him in his old age. The old Barnes farm was used-up to help pay for his care, and passed into the ownership of the Willett

ARTHUR HERMAN BARNES (1847-1940)

Homesteader, Editor and Newspaperman,
Banker, Educator

Arthur⁷ (Horace⁶) Barnes was b 14 July 1847, at the farm home of his parents near Bristol Station, Kendall County, Illinois, the third s of Dea. Horace and Susan (Cone)⁶ Barnes. (1, 2 and 7)

On 4 September 1876, he m Sarah Elizabeth Raymond, b 4 May 1851, at Bristol, Kendall County, Illinois. She was the dau of Charles H. and Lydia (Burrell) Raymond of that village, and a sister of Martin Raymond (m Ella Mary Barnes, her sister-in-law). (3)

Reared a farmer, he obtained his educ Public Schools of Kendall Co., and Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois. Following marriage, res on farm near Bristol, where two children were b. With circulars widely circulated to appeal for settlers for the Dakota Territory, it seemed to be a great opportunity! Arthur and his family, traveling via covered wagon, reached Fedora, Miner County, South Dakota, in 1882. Here he took up a homestead and accumulated a tree claim from the US government, seven years before the state of South Dakota entered the Union. Indians, storms, bleak winters, and grim frontier tales would all but fill a book to relate a portion of their life as they helped to establish that new country West! In 1896, Arthur embarked upon a new challenge for his many talents. Leaving the oldest s, Horace, to manage the homestead, he boarded the train for Eagle Grove, Iowa. Having heard of a weak and struggling weekly newspaper here, the Eagle Grove EAGLE, he purchased the firm. One year later, the wife and family joined him and they established a new home and a new business. (1, 3 and 5)

Arthur Herman Barnes wrote the editorials for his paper. They were simple and from the heart; the readers liked them and his paper was a success. At 50 years of age, he found a new niche in life. A. H. continued to write the "ed sheet" for the Eagle until his eyesight gave out. Selling an interest to his youngest s, Harlan, the paper became the leading one in the town, as well as the county. (3)

He served as dir for Security Savings Bank for 25 years; Pres of Public Library Board in that village; Pres of Rotary Club; mem of the City Council, Masonic Lodge, and First Congregational Church.

"Lizzie" d 19 March 1930, and was buried in the Rose Hill Cemetery, Eagle Grove, Iowa. Their s, Solon, lived with his father then. Arthur H. d 14 February 1940, and burial was beside his wife. Quoting from the introduction to Record (see Ch. IV. Bibliog. 7), prefaced by the following quotation of Thomas Carlyle - "A true delineation of the smallest man and his scene of pilgrimage through life is capable of interesting the greatest man. All men are to an unspeakable degree brothers, each man's life a strange emblem of every man's; and human portraits, faithfully drawn, are, of all pictures, the welcomest on human walls".
